

Disclaimer Updated March 2024

Accuracy

We endeavour to provide information on our website and other listings, which is accurate and relevant. We do not take responsibility for inaccuracy in any information shared. We provide detailed listings with approximate measurements. Customers are responsible for asking for more detailed measurements if required and for checking photos carefully as these are additional to the description.

Liability for goods

We deal with second hand, vintage items. We cannot be held responsible for any injury that you may suffer from using the product. We do not issue warranties and are not responsible for warranty claims. Products are sold as seen on our website, other online platforms or in person. Where soft furnishings are supplied without fire labels, these are supplied in addition to the item of furniture for free, with the intention of providing a template for the consumer to sources their own furnishings. We will always make it clear to customers if there are no fire labels.

Copyright

Materials that are shared on our website and listings linked to our website are protected by copyright law. Our photographs and other content are not to be used without our permission.